TAKING A CLOSER LOOK AT EAST CENTRAL JUNIOR COLLEGE

Class Rooms

This is our life at East Central Junior College 1962-'63. With East Central's past came the memories of our struggle...a struggle for more and better accomplishments. Now our past is behind us and a renewed struggle to make East Central the most prosperous institution of higher learning.

With this in mind we proudly present a closer look at E.C.J.C of 1963.

With a wide field from which to choose we acquire the knowledge to lead and guide us after we have departed from this great institution.

Exam week

ALL LONG TO BE

As we glance over the year we well remember the happy moments---the winning free shots in the last few minutes of close games, the school spirit, the friendships, the exams we studied so hard for and passed, the get togethers in the student center (?), ordering caps and gowns, rehearsal, and at last ---graduation. We now look back and realize that the happy moments outweighed the sad moments, and we are pleased with our realization.

REMEMBERED

DEDICATION

Occasionally in the course of life we meet a person whose influence is far reaching and whose character remains a living inspiration. Such a one is the man whom we honor here. In helping us adjust to a newly acquired status as a college student, he has been one to whom we could turn for understanding and guidance. As an English teacher, friend of the students, and sponsor of the Photography Club at East Central, he goes his way quietly, inconspicuously, and with a calm dignity that speaks of a true and gracious gentleman. Because of his unselfish spirit and devoted service, we, the staff, humbly and gratefully dedicate the 1963 WO-HE-LO to Mr. T.R. Mayes.

OUR

PRESIDENT

DR. DOUGLAS M.
MONTGOMERY

The college yearbook is a record of people and things, of friends and of memorable events. With each passing year, your copy of the WO HE LO will grow in its value to you.

You have just reason to be proud that you were a student at East Central Junior College. It is a fine college because of the accomplishments of its former students. As you join the ranks of the alumni, you inherit not only a proud tradition but also the heavy responsibility to go forth and do likewise. Your alma mater is confident that its future reputation is in good hands.

The Tom Tom

Producing a college paper is a process involving the performance of a series of activities which make up a sequence of progress from staff to readers on the campus and among the alumni.

The first step in turning out a Tom-Tom calls for careful planning. At its regular planning meeting is the Tom-Tom Executive Staff: (left to right) Managing Editor, Roger Easom; Associate Editor, Nancy Turner; Editor, Joe McGee; Associate Editor, Joe Edwards; Sponsor, Miss Una Harris.

Preparing to comb the campus, the entire Tom-Tom staff assembles to get news leads.

College administrative officials are the chief source of news leads. Here Joe McGee interviews President Montgomery.

Shelba Peagler and Mickey Cumberland (right) get the latest details on social activities on the campus for Social Highlights.

Sports writer, Elois Lovorn, verifies statistics by interviewing Football Coach, Guthrie, and Physical Education Instructor, Lucille Wood.

News articles sometimes have to be revised. Miss Harris gives pointers to Reporters, Charlene Kilpatrick and Thomas Carpenter.

News Editor, Ted Hannah, and News Writer, Sandra Rivers, are on their way to the Tom-Tom office to discuss news possibilities.

Columnist, Betty Harrison, goes through the files of newspapers from other colleges, selecting material for her column, "Mississippi Collegiate Life".

Feature Writer, George Wood, takes it easy as he waits for inspiration to write his latest feature.

Reporters, Hubert Moore (standing in rear) and Shellye Shumaker (seated in foreground with notepad) interview fellow students in Sullivan Center.

Cartoonist, Martha Barrett, sketches campus scenes while Photographer, Henry Wilson, checks his camera equipment.

All copy must be carefully typed before it is sent to the printer. Typists, pecking away on press night, are: (left to right): Brenda Pope, Shirley Laird, and Lyla Myatt.

One of the biggest jobs in turning out a paper is headlining every article. Members of the Executive Staff wiggle their brain cells as they headline the last few articles.

Here, the Executive Staff ponders over which page on which to run a feature, as the dummy is made up, the final step in producing a paper.
